

Household Hazardous Waste

Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) include products we buy and use daily in our homes, and even in our jobs. It is important to monitor the use, storage and disposal of these products. For the safety of the public and our environment. A few quick tips for the safe handling of these products are as follows:

- Follow instructions on the product labels, for proper use and disposal
- Keep the hazardous waste in original container, and do not remove the products labels
- If you are storing the product, make sure containers of the hazardous waste is covered and sealed shut.
- Never pour the waste down the drain, flush down the toilet, or dump into the street.
- Check with your local environmental, health or solid waste agency if you need more information on managing and disposal of the hazardous waste
